Orbital Moon Shot Set For December

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency said today the Apollo 8 mission will attempt an orbital flight around the moon, probably during the Christmas holidays.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the launching from Cape Kennedy, Fla., for what a few years ago would have been pure science fiction, will occur no earlier than Dec. 21.

This would mean the three Apollo 8 astronauts would spend Christmas Eve and part of Christmas day making the lunar orbits.

NASA officials announced at a news conference the Apollo mission would be "open-ended" — that is, conducted in steps referred to as plateaus or "commit points."

"Each plateau includes a thorough system check of crew, system and equipment operations," officials said.

"Only when all conditions are satisfactory will the decision be made to commit to the next plateau."

NASA said this type of operation allows for various alternate missions, including a low, earth-orbit flight, a flight to a distance of as much as 60,000 miles, or a flight around the moon.

"Conducting the mission in this manner provides both maximum crew safety and maximum benefits through alternate flight mission selection as the flight proceeds," the announcement said.

The announcement was made by Dr. Thomas O. Paine, NASA acting administrator; Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program manager, and William Schneider, Apollo 8 mission director.

The decision to conduct a lunar orbit mission followed an intensive review under way since mid-August when NASA announced the lunar module would be flown on Apollo 9 rather than Apollo 8.

"After a careful and thorough examination of all systems and the risks and benefits involved in each of the mission alternatives, we have concluded that we are ready to fly this advanced mission around the moon," Paine said.

"Frank Borman and his crew are eager to proceed, our engineers unanimously recommend this mission, and without being overconfident, we believe that we understand the hazards involved and are now ready to take this next step forward in the nation's space program."

The astronauts will make at least two orbits of the earth to check out their spacecraft before starting the actual 250,000-mile trek to the moon.

Court Order Is Sought In Voting 'Irregularity'

Pettis County Clerk James Green reported today that he had requested a court order "instructing me what to do" in light of apparent election irregularities in at least one precinct of one ward in last Tuesday's election.

According to Green, he requested Circuit Judge Frank Hayes for the court order this morning.

Earlier in the day, City Counselor J. R. Fritz said he suggested that all the ballots from the first precinct of the Second Ward, where one instance of the alleged irregularities occurred, be thrown out.

"That would have been an easy, fast solution," Fritz said, "but not technically correct."

According to Fritz, the county clerk obtains his voting totals from tally sheets which are turned in to his office by precinct election judges with the sealed ballots.

The tally sheets alone aren't enough to pinpoint whatever irregularity might have occurred at a voting place.

Ballots cannot be re-opened, however, unless a court order is obtained specifically authorizing the county clerk to open the ballots, examine and count them.

"I want to know exactly what's wrong," Green said, "but I have to have a court order instructing me what to do. It could take a couple of days before we know exactly what happened."

According to a reliable source, the court order decision was delayed pending consultation with attorneys for Stern Brothers, Kansas City bonding firm handling the airport issue.

The county clerks office discovered on last Saturday that there were 242 more ballots than registered voters cast in the first precinct of the second ward on the airport issue.

It was reported that there were other voting places throughout the city in which irregularities in voting had occurred.

In almost all of these places, it was learned, the airport bond issue was the key ballot. It was not determined what voting places other than the first precinct of the Second Ward were involved.

Green said a similar situation had arisen about 10 or 12 years ago. He did not know exactly how long it would take to find what, if any, irregularities had taken place this time, he said.

"We hope to find out soon," Fritz said.

The Pettis County Republican Committee chairman, Leroy Iuchs, said Tuesday, that, "Until the official count of the ballots from Tuesday's election is complete, there is only superficial evidence of irregularities."

Iuchs went on to say that, "If there is an irregularity involved, I feel that it should be investigated and determined as to whether or not there was any criminal intent."

This statement by Iuchs parallels that of the Pettis County Democratic Chairman, James Denny, who said Saturday that any election irregularity should be investigated if the evidence warrants.

The official tally of ballots, which was to have been completed Tuesday, was proceeding, but the question of voting irregularities made it uncertain when the final results would be available.

Students To Fill Offices

City high school students will fill offices of city officials in observance of Youth Appreciation Week, sponsored by the Optimist Club.

The young officials from Sacred Heart and Smith-Cotton high schools will be at City Hall at 2 p.m. next Monday to observe work in the offices to which they were elected. At 6:30 p.m. the same day, all will attend a pre-council meeting and the regular City Council meeting at 7:30 p.m.

Officers elected from Sacred Heart High school are: Mary Ellen Fischer, mayor; Tom Racunas, police judge; John Menefee, city attorney; Dixie Kemp, city collector; Martha Karrigan, assessor; Judy Oehrke, city treasurer; councilmen, Sally Fechtel and Theresa Herrick, first ward; Bob Lindsey and Bob Estes, second ward; Jackie Meyers and Dave Esser, third ward; Darrell Dunham and Kathy Baugher, fourth ward.

From Smith-Cotton are: Don Wilson, mayor; Dennis Bruns, police judge; Terry Siron, city attorney; Steve Cain, city collector; Skip Tournquist, city assessor; Glenn Lane, treasurer; councilmen, first ward, Scott Schumaker and Lanny Manness; second ward, Cheryl Bechtel and Cathy Binderup; third ward, Kirk Davis and Bill Woolery; fourth ward, Con Chapman and John Rissler.

The week's activities began today with the principals of both high schools, Earl Finley of Smith-Cotton and Fred Pirnak of Sacred Heart, visiting the noon Optimist Club meeting as special guests. Guests also were the presidents of the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes of each school and the presidents of both schools' student councils.

Leo Lewis, a mail carrier, will be speaker at the meeting.

On Saturday, Nov. 16, all elected student officials will tour the police station, fire station, sewage disposals and other places.

Christmas Accounts Are Big

The local economy will get a tremendous boost late this week when Sedalia banks release some $361,000 in Christmas savings accounts. The Clearing House banks — Third National, Union Savings and Sedalia Bank & Trust Co. — will release their accounts Friday, and the Missouri State Bank will release theirs about the same time.

The savings are more than $20,000 higher than last year, when an estimated $340,000 was released. The savings accounts have been accumulating since about the first of December last year. New accounts may be opened at all of the local banks in about two weeks after this year's accounts are closed.

The Third National Bank is releasing about $160,000 in Christmas savings. Last year this bank released $150,000, with a gain of about $10,000.

The Union Savings Bank is releasing about $91,000 this year, compared to $80,000 last year, a gain of some $11,000.

Sedalia Bank & Trust this year is releasing about $85,000, about $4,000 more than last year.

The Missouri State Bank is releasing some $25,000 this year, compared to $30,000 last year.

Most checks are to be mailed out late this week in time to be in the hands of the owners by Monday or Tuesday, in plenty of time for the Christmas shopping season.

Missouri Cotton Crop Is Larger

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Missouri's 1968 cotton crop is expected to be more than triple last year's poor yield but still well below normal.

Federal and state agricultural experts predicted total yield of 200,000 bales this year, compared with 59,000 bales in 1967 but under the state's five-year average of 376,000 bales.

Average production was estimated at 480 pounds of cotton per acre—166 pounds above last year's average.

Pettis County One Of 39 With Trouble

An Associated Press report said Tuesday that Pettis County is one of 39 counties in Missouri which is still lacking complete election returns.

The reasons for the delay vary from county to county, according to the AP. There are 114 counties in Missouri.

Sees Beaten Enemy

SAIGON (AP) — The commander of U.S. forces in South Vietnam says the Communist side's major units have suffered massive losses and a large proportion of them have retreated to border areas or out of the country.

"The enemy has met with nothing but defeat throughout South Vietnam," said Gen. Creighton W. Abrams in a Veterans' Day message to his command, made available to newsmen today.

"The military successes and demonstrated effectiveness of Vietnamese and allied forces, together with our own, have brought us to a dominant position of strength and of confidence for the future," Abrams declared.

The general's headquarters said intelligence information indicates between 80,000 and 90,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are now in the South, and another 30,000 to 40,000 have withdrawn to Laos, Cambodia or North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command says at least 168,015 Communist troops have been killed this year and at least 411,358 since Jan. 1, 1961.

"With the continuing defeat of the enemy's main forces," Abrams said, "the opportunity now opens wider to destroy his local forces, guerrillas and infrastructure and progressively eliminate his remaining capability to threaten the security of South Vietnam."

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. Army's chief of staff and Abrams's predecessor in Vietnam, echoed Abrams' report in a Veterans' Day speech in Columbia, S.C.

Serious Threat to the West Seen in Soviet Deployments

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme allied commander in Europe, said today risks to the West remain "markedly higher" because of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, despite publicized withdrawals.

"The Warsaw Pact capability for moving forward has been enhanced," he said. "The military balance in central Europe has been significantly altered to the disadvantage of the West."

Lemnitzer's remarks were made in a speech prepared for delivery to the North Atlantic Assembly, a gathering of members of the U.S. Congress and from the parliaments of the other 14 allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Lemnitzer took issue with those who say the Soviet position has been more than counterbalanced by the loss of support from the Czechoslovak army, or by other possible defections in Eastern Europe. He said such people are trying to "wish away" the proven readiness and capability of Soviet forces.

He made five points: —The Soviet Union now has in central Europe its largest and most readily usable force since World War II.

—The Soviets and their allies have carried out a classical pattern of military deployment in Czechoslovakia.

—Men, communications and transport have been extensively mobilized to support forward forces.

—A large and immediately usable Soviet force has been placed farther west than at any time in the recent past.

—Despite reports of movement out of Czechoslovakia, the Soviets are there in strength, as they have not been since 1945.

He urged that NATO planning be based on Soviet potential, not on assessment of Soviet intentions.

On Monday, NATO Secretary-General Manlio Brosio of Italy told the assembly that the invasion of Czechoslovakia did not constitute a direct threat to NATO in itself. But he added: "The combined result of Soviet action in Czechoslovakia and of the Soviet doctrine of a Socialist community is a state of instability and deep uncertainty."

South Vietnamese Blamed for Delays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford accused South Vietnamese leaders today of balking at a peace talks arrangement "in the last out of the ninth inning."

Clifford said the United States should go ahead with the peace talks with North Vietnam in Paris if President Nguyen Van Thieu continues his refusal to take part.

The defense secretary told a news conference that President Johnson had a duty to go ahead with his announcement of the bombing halt, despite last-minute South Vietnamese reservations, because Johnson had a commitment to North Vietnam. That arrangement was developed in secret talks in which Clifford said the Saigon government was kept fully informed.

"I think the President owed it to the American people to proceed with the talks," Clifford said.

He contended Johnson "was absolutely right in not giving Saigon a veto over the plan."

He declined to characterize

Quiet About Nixon Role Before the Inauguration

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon, while pledging that President Lyndon B. Johnson speaks for him on Vietnam and other crucial foreign policy matters, has left a big question mark about his own possible preinaugural role as a peace-seeking diplomat overseas.

Nixon flew here Monday night for a stay of several days following a lengthy meeting with Johnson at the White House.

Before meeting the chief executive he will succeed on January 20, Nixon had talked about possible personal missions to Saigon or the Paris peace talks should Johnson deem them helpful. He also suggested he might send emissaries abroad—presumably to Saigon or Paris—if Johnson agreed.

But after their White House talks, neither Nixon nor Johnson said a word—or even hinted at—preinaugural foreign travel by the President-elect or the dispatching of representatives from the incoming administration.

Johnson, however, did indicate he might be having more conferences with Nixon before January 20.

"It was a very pleasant and cooperative meeting," Johnson told newsmen, "as we expect all these meetings in the days ahead to be."

Nixon, appearing jointly with the President, talked about such foreign policy problems as Vietnam, a possible new Mideast crisis and the ever-present question of American-Soviet relations.

"If progress is to be made in any of these fields," Nixon said, "It can be made only if the parties on the other side realize that the current administration is setting forth policies that will be carried forward by the next administration. . . I gave assurance in each instance to the secretary of state and, of course, the President, that they could speak not just for this administration but for the nation and that meant for the next administration as well."

Nixon expressed hope that as

School Board Meeting Set For Tonight

The Sedalia District 200 Board of Education meets at 7:30 tonight in regular session in the board rooms at Smith-Cotton High School with some interesting items on the agenda.

One item which will probably create considerable discussion is a problem of labor, concerning the rules and regulations on wages and hours. Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent, said he plans to bring this item up for discussion.

Another item that may prove interesting is a planned discussion of new rules and regulations pertaining to accreditation with the State Department of Education.

Other items on the agenda include the opening of bids on the Bothwell School property, and the opening of bids on various school equipment. The reinvestment of various funds in treasury notes on a short-term basis is also to be taken up.

Incomplete Count Of Votes in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The suspense was gone but the task of presidential vote counting continued on today in Alaska, Maryland and Missouri where President-elect Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey fought some of their closest contests.

With the count down to the last few precincts or the final stacks of absentee ballots, Maryland appeared firmly in the Humphrey column while Alaska and Missouri had lined up behind Nixon.

The latest national vote totals showed Humphrey with 30,760,301 or 42.97 per cent; Nixon with 31,085,267 or 43.48 per cent; and third party candidate George C. Wallace with 9,674,802 or 13.53 per cent. The Humphrey total includes 51,342 votes received by a second state of Alabama electors pledged to him.

In the electoral vote count Nixon won 32 states with 302 votes, Humphrey 13 states and the District of Columbia with 191 and Wallace 5 states with 45.

The Oregon's hotly contested Senate race incumbent Sen. Wayne Morse had been mathematically eliminated by his Republican challenger Robert Packwood who held a 3,699 vote lead and only 2,500 votes to be counted.

The presidential absentee vote counting resumes in Missouri today but it was a foregone conclusion that the final tallies will give the state's 12 electoral votes to Nixon. The count was Nixon, 784,351, to Humphrey's 770,564, and Wallace's 199,860.

Nasser Watches Suez Maneuvers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser attended front-line maneuvers in the tense Suez Canal area Monday, while Premier Levi Eshkol indicated Israel won't give up control of the Tiran Strait its outlet to East Africa, Persian Gulf oil and the Far East.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported Nasser spent seven hours atop a tank, watching a "massive" maneuver of tanks and armored divisions. It said he was accompanied by Defense Minister Mohammed Fawzy and Iraqi Vice Premier Hamed Ammash.

Al-Ahram also reported wide contacts have been initiated among the Arab capitals to work out a plan of action following the "collapse" of U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring's peace mission.

There was speculation in Cairo that Egypt and Jordan are again trying to arrange an Arab summit conference, which some Arab countries, particularly Saudi Arabia, oppose.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad returned to Cairo from New York two days ago and said Jarring's attempts to work out something between the Arabs and Israel had been rendered futile by Israel's insistence on face-to-face negotiations with the Arabs. Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban counter-charged that Riad had walked out of the talks in New York and "deliberately squandered in cold blood" chances for progress.

In Jerusalem, Eshkol told the Israeli Parliament: "Free passage for our ships in the Suez Canal and freedom to defend free passage in the Strait of Tiran are conditions for peace."

Tornquist Speaks To Sedalia BPW Club

E. M. Tornquist, Civilian Personnel Officer, Whiteman Air Force Base, was the speaker at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday evening, Nov. 7, at Bothwell Hotel.

Taking for his subject, "Progress of Women in Government," Tornquist was introduced by Miss Margaret Ferguson, chairman of the Legislative Committee.

Careers for women are more in evidence today, the speaker told the group, and women are sharing with the men a greater responsibility in the community activities.

Although a woman was postmaster 14 years before the signing of the constitution, he said, this was unusual. However the two women who served in those early years as postmasters helped to develop the postal service.

Wars, Tornquist pointed out, have played a great part in the employment of women. The Civil War necessitated their going into business because the men had to go to war; World War I women entered various jobs and in World War II there was a demand that opened the door to all fields of work. The performance they gave was utilized and developed.

It was the government, he said, that first made an opening for women, but they were making $600 a year — one third to one half what the men were drawing at that time. Several years later the government made pay for the women the same as men, but the women just used their initials instead of their first names.

By the middle of the 19th century, women were being employed in different kinds of jobs, he said. The Civil Service Act of 188 brought about one of the major benefits for women in government and the second employee was a woman, who lived to observe her 100th birthday in 1958. However the higher pay and more desirable jobs went to men.

Women in civil service demonstrated their ability and made great strides. In 192 they were given the same salary as men, and in 192 came the opportunity when discrimination against women was discontinued, for before it had been only jobs for wingle women and men.

Tornquist told the group that women had been purposely overlooked. If an individual is not being recognized for his work, he stressed, he does not give his best.

The President of the United States in 1967 in Order 11 75 established the Federal Women's Program, where there is no discrimination. This program was set up on a positive plan of activity to utilize women.

Whiteman Air Force Base, he went on to say, has plans tailored to meet the needs. There is no discrimination of any kind at Whiteman.

"We think" said Tornquist, "we are doing pretty good. The women receive from $7,000 to $10,000 a year, and there can be no discrimination in firms or contractors at Whiteman."

The biggest thing now is attitude. There is renewed interest and changed attitudes to forget whether employees are men or women, but to get the job done. Automation has not lessened jobs, he commented, but rather has made more jobs.

Sedalia is a progressive city, he told the group, and he felt the women here had come a long way and would continue striving for employment equality, which some of them have achieved.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Nyra Price, president, with invocation by Mrs. Maria Walkup.

Guests were introduced by Mrs. Lily Thomas as follows: Mrs. Lena Mallett, guest of Mrs. Clela Hawley, Mrs. Cord Hinken, guest of Mrs. Bernice McGee, and Mrs. E. F. Tornquist, guest of the club.

Mrs. Mary Louise Waldrep, music chairman, presented an unusual and entertaining program. Kathy Hinken gave a clever baton twirling act. Kathy is a majorette for the Smith-Cotton High School Band. Then Mrs. Pam Price Boul and Donald Waldrep going back to the twenties did the Charleston.

Mrs. Betty Blackwell, membership chairman, introduced the following new members: Mrs. Mabel Glenn,

Lightning Hits Agnew's Plane Twice in Flight

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Lightning twice struck the "birthday flight" plane carrying Vice President-elect Spiro T. Agnew and his family to Puerto Rico Monday for a vacation. No one was hurt.

Agnew was so busy enjoying an impromptu party on the plane, thrown by family and friends to celebrate his 50th birthday, he said he wasn't aware of what happened until "the pilot told me."

The group included Mrs. Agnew, their four children and their baby granddaughter, several friends and Secret Service men.

The Air Force Convair 580 apparently was undamaged. It landed at 8:35 p.m. EST and Agnew's party immediately boarded three Marine helicopters for the 15-minute flight to the Dorado Beach Hotel, on the island's north coast.

Agnew discussed the flight calmly upon his arrival and casually mentioned the lightning after describing his vacation plans. He indicated the bolts hit after the plane took off from Patrick Air Force Base, in Florida, where it had refueled.

One source at Kennedy Airport in New York said planes in flight are struck by lightning from time to time without untoward effects.

TAKE THIS 2-MINUTE QUIZ

about your employee health benefits program:

QUESTION

1. Are claims paid direct to doctors and hospitals, thus relieving you of paperwork and follow-ups? ☐ YES ☐ NO
2. Do you know how much hospital and medical claim follow-ups cost your company each year? ☐ YES ☐ NO
3. Can your employees enter a hospital without waiting to establish their credit? ☐ YES ☐ NO
4. Are your employees relieved of the task of filling out claim forms for basic benefits when they are discharged from a hospital? ☐ YES ☐ NO
5. Does your health plan carrier have a nearly infinite variety of benefits through which you can always have a program that fits your exact needs and objectives? ☐ YES ☐ NO

If you answered every question with a YES, you have BLUE CROSS® and BLUE SHIELD®.

That's because only Blue Cross-Blue Shield provides automatic, direct payments of basic benefits to participating doctors and hospitals.

Only Blue Cross-Blue Shield members have the Blue Plan Membership Card which gets them in and out of a hospital without waiting to establish credit, or fill out claim forms.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield offers a nearly infinite variety of benefits. Working with our representative, you can build a program that fits your needs—and also fits your total insurance package—with Blue Cross-Blue Shield handling the billing for the entire package if you desire.

All of these things make a Blue Cross-Blue Shield group plan easier and more convenient for you . . . and for your employees.

But, here's the payoff—Blue Cross-Blue Shield uses less than 8% of income for administrative expenses. So, more than 92% of our income goes for member benefits. Can you say as much for your present coverage?

More than 383,000 American business firms belong to Blue Cross-Blue Shield . . . over 2,000 of them right here in this area.

Eight out of the nation's 12 largest industrial corporations have Blue Cross-Blue Shield programs.

Long Wait to Meet 'Family'

Although Dr. and Mrs. David R. Edwards felt that they knew their "foster son" pretty well after 15 years' of letter writing, it was not until last week that they finally got to meet him.

The Edwards went to Kansas City to meet Rene Neveu from France, whom they "adopted" in 1953, when Rene was 8, through the Foster Parents plan for the care of war children. Rene's father was killed in France during World War II.

Rene works for the French Company of Transit, Department of Customs, in Douala, Cameroon, Africa, where he has lived for the past four years.

He has an older brother, Lucien, who is married and lives in Douala, and an older married sister, Claudine, who lives in France.

The Edwards' French visitor spent the first week of his three-week visit with his American "family" in Sedalia, where he has met several people, one of whom is a fellow countryman, Jean Louis Lavole, an American Field Service student from France who is living this year with the Thomas Gray family.

Last Friday Rene went to Columbia to spend the weekend with the family of his American "brother," David Edwards, and was introduced to an American institution — the MU homecoming football game.

Rene is looking forward to a trip through Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas with the Edwards. When he leaves Sedalia near the end of November, he will go to New York and then to France, where he will stay before returning to Africa.

Barbers Go Along With Sideburns

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — Sideburns, yes; hippie hair, no.

That's the guideline adopted by the Associated Master Barbers of Massachusetts at their annual convention.

If the hair cascades over the collar it's too long, Anthony J. Jannoni of Belmont, the association's new president, said Monday.

Hair that hides the neck "makes barbers sick to the stomach," he said.

He didn't say whether this happens for esthetic or economic reasons but he did add that because many of the young rebel against haircuts "a lot of barbers have gone out of business or have had to cut down on their staffs."

And what about sideburns? When nicely trimmed, Jannoni said, they are stylish and continental. And what's more important, "Women love them."

Getting Acquainted

Rene Neveu, Cameroon, Africa, and his "foster mother," Mrs. David R. Edwards, find they have much to talk about now that they have finally met, after corresponding for 15 years. Rene is spending three weeks in this country.

Promote Cooperation

LONDON (AP) — Three top British ministers are trying in Brussels this week to promote European military and foreign policy cooperation inside the North Atlantic Alliance but outside the Common Market.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart, Defense Secretary Denis Healey and Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins will be in the Belgian capital Wednesday for a special meeting of ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the implications of the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia.

Along side that 15-nation gathering, the three British ministers planned an intensive round of talks with their West European colleagues, seeking to promote cooperation in fields outside the scope of the Treaty of Rome, which set up the European Economic Community and its Common Market.

The move reflects the growing conviction in the British government that President Charles de Gaulle will continue to block Britain's entry into the Common Market and that none of the other five members with the possible exception of the Netherlands is prepared to buck the French president.

France's veto last month of a Belgian proposal for cooperation with Britain within the framework of the Western European Union was a bitter disappointment in London. But the reaction was even more bitter to word from Brussels that Belgium was not prepared to stand up to France.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's ministers are now seeking a wider setting in which to press for European unity.

Healey led off the drive last week with a speech urging a "sense of European identity within the Atlantic alliance." He called for a "continuous dialogue between Britain and the other members of NATO on questions of defense policy and strategy."

"The existence of a European identity among NATO's members on this side of the Atlantic would make progress towards the reunification of Europe as a whole more easy," he said.

While emphasizing that Britain has no intention of undermining the American commitment to Europe Healey warned of the pressure on the U.S. administration from Congress and the American public to reduce that commitment. He said this makes it urgent for Europeans to draft a collective policy, not only on European issues but on such wider problems as the Vietnam war and the nuclear arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Foreign Secretary Stewart carried the campaign into the purely political field in a speech in The Hague Friday.

Clothing A Barrier To Therapy

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — By removing all their clothes, participants in group therapy lose inhibitions and can understand themselves better, says Paul Bindrim, a Hollywood clinical psychologist.

He described Monday to the American College of Medical Hypnotists the 21-hour sessions he has been holding each weekend for about a year at Palm Springs, Calif. There are 14 nude participants, male and female, at each session. Bindrim says they pay $45 a weekend.

"Clothing constitutes a mask behind which the individual hides," Bindrim said in describing his theory.

Participants just sit and talk about emotional problems at first. As they become more familiar they can touch and embrace but with certain limitations.

At dawn the second day they have "a spiritual experience," Bindrim added, by climbing into a warm swimming pool and meditating quietly together.

Body contact is encouraged because it is "essential to emotional expression." But he says the participants are able to enjoy sensual pleasure without sexual involvement because they are so emotionally "turned on."

At first some members of the American Psychological Association objected, he said, but formal protests have been withdrawn. Doctors, clergymen and lawyers at the convention lauded his experiment.

Bindrim insists nude psychotherapy is becoming more common and is here to stay.

"It helps to remove alienation, which is the cause of unrest on our campuses and is one reason for our racial troubles," he said.

Big Consignment Of Hashish Found

LONDON (AP) — The largest consignment of hashish ever found smuggled into Britain—790 pounds valued at up to $1.2 million—was hidden in tins of pickles and crates of herbs sent from Pakistan, the Old Bailey court was told Monday.

Three Pakistanis were charged with trying to smuggle the drug in last spring aboard a ship from Karachi.

Water Restrictions Are Finally Lifted

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Snow mixed with rain was falling in Chapel Hill Monday night when residents of the university town were told that restrictions on water usage had been lifted.

A summer drought had prompted the city council to prohibit the washing of cars and watering of lawns. Students at the University of North Carolina ate off paper plates to cut down dishwashing.

Measles Are Blamed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania School for the Deaf says that 40 of the 55 four-year-olds in its preschool classes were left deaf by German measles which struck their mothers in pregnancy during an epidemic of the disease.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly In Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping, or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Then sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. PASTEETH holds dentures firmer and more comfortably. Makes eating easier. It's alkaline—doesn't sour. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feel. Helps check plate odor. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get PASTEETH at all drug counters.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

The body is at the funeral home, where the family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Sees Racism As Main Worry In U.S. Today

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okl., believes racism is the primary mental health problem of the United States.

Speaking before the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers, Harris also said Monday that powerlessness and frustrated idealism are two potentially destructive forces.

However, Harris suggested, that if properly used they could prove the solution to many American problems.

The senator, who was co-chairman of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's presidential campaign committee, said he is confident the administration of Richard M. Nixon will face these problems.

"Probably the greatest task of the new administration is to decentralize — to consciously give back to the individual the authority that has been taken in unconscious ways."

Harris urged the delegates to emphasize the right to be different.

He said persons must be allowed to be part of the decisions that will shape their lives and must be given the opportunity to do things that are significant — to feel — their activities are worthwhile.

Another lingering problem, Harris said, is poverty. Citizens must have a right to a good education, to good health and to a job, he said, if poverty is to be eliminated.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials say a "crash pillow" which inflates immediately in a collision offers hope of making cars safer for passengers.

"It sounds crazy—like a Rube Goldberg contraption—but it is being taken very seriously both by the government and by industry," Dr. William Haddon Jr., director of the National Highway Safety Bureau, said Monday.

Haddon said the pillows could be available within a few years, but technicians want to make certain triggering mechanisms are as foolproof as possible.

Present plans call for a pillow to pop out of the steering column and another from the dashboard in front of the front seat passenger.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has hired Joseph H. Fink to keep startlings away from President-elect Richard M. Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20.

Just as he has since 1953, Fink will spray trees and roosting spots along Pennsylvania Avenue and Capitol Hill with a bird repellent.

Fink, who started in the bird-chasing business at his Lake Geneva, N.Y., resort, gets paid $10,000 and guarantees his work for four months.

Premier Had Little Of Value

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "Now You See It, Now You Don't" was one of those made-for-TV films in NBC's World Premiere series Monday night, and the fact that it had never been seen on any screen before is about the only nice thing that one can say about it.

The plot rambled, then picked up wildly between farce and pie-throwing slapstick. It started out interestingly enough with a Los Angeles art museum about to exhibit a priceless Rembrandt.

At this point, things became complicated. Jonathan Winters played an insurance agency security man with a plan to swindle an unscrupulous Eastern potentate out of a million dollars by faking the theft of the art treasure.

This involved making copies of the painting, and devising a Rube Goldberg machine to switch the real painting with a fake as it was being removed from a steel vault conveniently equipped with a handy ventilation duct.

There were any number of stock comedy figures including a French detective and the Eastern potentate. And the caricatures of the policemen made "Batman's" chief of police look like a genius.

Winters is a brilliant comedian who has not yet found the right television showcase for his special talents, and he was completely out of his element in a book comedy.

The story, which was ingenious, probably could have been worked into a light one-hour show, but it was painfully padded with irrelevant harem scenes and a comedy chase that went on interminably.

In a programming mishap on NBC, "The Tonight Show" which followed, wound up six minutes short. It seems that the 90-minute program, taped the night before in Hollywood, contained a comedy sketch with Johnny Carson working with Barbara Feldon of "Get Smart" and an actress, Carol Wayne, described delicately by an NBC spokesman as "amply endowed."

During the sketch, some remarks about Miss Wayne's construction were made. NBC's censors in New York decided the remarks must be erased. Informed of the decision, Carson instructed the network to cut out the entire sketch—or six minutes. Carson, it was reported, was "annoyed" by the decision, so viewers will probably hear more on the subject first hand soon.

In the new Nielsen ratings, released Monday, NBC had a slight lead with an average of 18.9, followed by CBS, with 18.4 and ABC, 15.9.

Most popular programs during the period between Oct. 28 and Nov. 3 were NBC's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" and Walt Disney Hour; CBS's "Jackie Gleason Show" and Red Skelton Hour; NBC's "Bonanza," "Ironside" and "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir." CBS's Thursday Night Movie and "Gunsmoke," and NBC's "Julia."

A communique spelling out details of the response strategy is expected to come from a meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Brussels Nov. 14-15. The Associated Press learned Monday.

Sources in Washington stressed the response would be automatic, rapid and defensive. The alliance has no obligation to assist any Warsaw Pact nation.

(Continued from Page 1) the South Vietnamese action as sabotage or double-cross, as a reporter suggested, and said the United States is making every reasonable effort to change Saigon's stand.

"It continues to be my hope that they (Saigon government) will see it as we do and that they will go ahead with the talks very soon," Clifford said.

No meeting date for opening the intensive Paris peace talks has been set as of now, he added.

At the same time, Clifford said North Vietnam violated the understanding between it and the United States by recent shelling of U.S. forces from the Demilitarized Zone and some bombardment of South Vietnamese cities.

He said Hanoi undertook to avoid such actions while the United States maintained a total halt of the bombing of North Vietnam.

He said the shellings are considered "a matter of seriousness" by the U.S. government but that so far they do not constitute a pattern.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., U.S. commander in south Vietnam, has reported that these violations have not seriously imperiled his troops or the allied military situation, Clifford said.

He added that Abrams is maintaining "constant and intensive pressure" on enemy forces inside South Vietnam.

As for the peace talk foulup, Clifford claimed that all through the period when the United States was discussing peace talk conditions with Hanoi, it was clearly known and understood that the Viet Cong representatives, the National Liberation front, would accompany the Hanoi delegation to the conference and that Saigon officials would accompany the United States.

On the morning of Oct. 29, when U.S. officials held a secret conference at the White House to complete final details, Clifford said U.S. authorities believed that all that remained was to set the date for the cessation of bombing and for the opening of the revitalized Paris talks.

A joint communique had been prepared, he said, for release simultaneously in Saigon and Washington, with only the date of the opening of the talks and of the bombing halt left blank.

HUNTSVILLE, Mo. (AP)—A preliminary hearing for Mrs. Jane Burrus, 46, a Randolph County farm wife, charged with felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm, has been set for Nov. 20.

Mrs. Burrus, who was released on $3,000 bond Monday following her arraignment in Magistrate Court, is charged in the shooting of her husband, James Lester Burrus, also 46.

Burrus suffered gunshot wounds of the elbow and groin at the couple's home Sunday south of Huntsville. He is reported in satisfactory condition.

Accidents

No injuries were reported in a two-car accident in the 1700 block of East Broadway at 5:24 p.m. Monday.

Involved were a 1962 Pontiac driven west on Broadway by Agnes R. Miller, 32, 1814 East Broadway, and a 1958 Chevrolet driven east on Broadway by Ray E. Martin, 76, 1009 South Garfield.

Damage was to the right front of the Pontiac and the right front of the Chevrolet.

Martin was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Police Report

Two stereo-tape cartridges valued at $10.68 were taken from the Katz Drug Co. Monday. James Knothe, 19, 1908 East 12th, was taken into custody by Sedalia police in connection with the incident, and later released on $50 bond. Knothe is to appear in Municipal Court on Nov. 22.

The incident was reported to police at 8:52 p.m. by Joseph Zagar, 1616 East Seventh.

Warren Herrick, 1412 South Moniteau, reported to police that someone took the battery from his car while it was parked at the above address Sunday night.

George Sherman reported to police that someone took the master brake cylinder off a truck at Town & Country motors, 3110 West Broadway, sometime in the past week.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming reported to police that vandals broke five windows in a house at 325 North Grand sometime during the day Sunday.

City Fires

Sedalia firemen were called to the Charles Palmer residence, 2511 Dennis Road, at 9:03 p.m. Monday. The cause of the blaze was a cigarette left on the seat of a chair. Damage was confined to the chair and some caused by smoke.

Threat

(Continued from Page 1) ment evaluation, Cooper added, claimed qualitative superiority in those weapons too.

Lennitzer also urged improvement in mobilization plans.

Earlier Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., told the NATO allies there is widespread feeling in the United States that Europeans are not doing as much as they should in NATO.

Americans agree on the need for the alliance, he said, but added that there has been a problem in maintaining an effective American force in Europe.

"That problem," he said, "resulted in a large part from a widespread feeling in my country that so many Europeans were less concerned with the security of their homelands than we were. To many Americans it has seemed that a prosperous Western Europe was not making a reasonably proportionate contribution to the common defense effort."

He said he was heartened by increasing recognition in Europe that there is a direct relationship between European willingness to spend on defense and the willingness of the American people and Congress to provide for mutual security. He was encouraged, he added, by initiatives of some European members to revitalize the alliance.

Members of the U.S. Congress and of the parliaments of the 14 other NATO countries are meeting this week at the Atlantic Assembly. Though it has no legislative powers, its recommendations carry some weight with the governments of the NATO members.

A report by another U.S. senator, John Sherman Cooper, D-Ky., cites figures provided by the U.S. Defense Department to show that NATO's forces are superior to those of the Warsaw Pact in all categories except tanks and aircraft. The North Atlantic forces have 2,100 aircraft available to the Soviet bloc's 2,900, and only 60 per cent as many tanks. An evaluation of strength that went with the figures, however, said that in quality the West is superior in these weapons, too.

"It is clear that NATO's military capabilities must be improved and quickly," Sen. Cooper says.

Urges Ted To Stay in Politics

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy says her surviving son, Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, "should go on in politics" although she worries about his safety.

The mother of the late President John F. Kennedy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, both slain by assassins, was quoted in an interview in the current Look magazine.

Mrs. Kennedy, 78, said her youngest son "made the right decision, for the obvious reasons," in not allowing his name to be placed in nomination for president at the Democratic National Convention.

The senator's decision to decline nomination, Mrs. Kennedy said, was "a new sensation for him" because "he wants to do what the older boys did."

"He's always been told to get in there and hustle... now he is advised to take it easy!" she said.

Mrs. Kennedy said she sometimes wonders "if there is something about my family which invites violence. Is it envy, you ask? I don't know."

She continued: "I've had so much, a son as president, two as senators, a son-in-law who's an ambassador (Sargent Shriver)... perhaps God doesn't permit that much."

"We came from very humble beginnings; why should the Kennedys be so special? Why shouldn't a Nixon or Humphrey have his chance?"

Mrs. Kennedy said she thinks her daughter-in-law, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, will be "very happy" as the wife of Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, adding:

"It's been quite a lonely life for her."

Mrs. Kennedy said that she and her husband, the former ambassador to Great Britain, have known Onassis for 15 years and that he dined with them this past summer in the family compound at Hyannis Port, Mass.

Long Jail Terms Face 11 Youths

DETROIT (AP) — Eleven youths face prison terms of up to 25 years each if convicted on charges connected with eight bombings in the Detroit area in recent months.

The 11, including two girls, stood mute at their arraignments in Detroit Recorder's Court Monday. The group, ranging in ages from 18 to 24, are charged with conspiracy to place explosives with intent to do damage.

The explosions all damaged public property in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Roseville and St. Clair Shores and dated back to Aug. 30. No one was injured in the blasts which occurred in the evening or early morning.

Bombings rocked three Detroit police parking lots, a building housing two Roseville draft boards, the South Lake school administration building in St. Clair Shores, a parking lot at an Army recruiting office in Detroit, a CIA office in Ann Arbor and the Institute of Science and Technology building at the University of Michigan.

Police, who had warrants for the arrests of eight others, said, "Their motivation appears to be antiestablishment." Police said the racially mixed group did not appear to be part of an organization.

Despite police characterization of the defendants as "hippie-types," they were for the most part dressed in conventional sports clothes without any hippie trinkets. One young man wore shoulder length hair and another had a wispy goatee.

Arrested were David J. Vallier, 24; Ronald Pierce, 18; John Schmittroth, 19; William T. Ladd, 20; James R. Moscara, 18, and Dieder Flowers, 20, all of Detroit. Others were Joseph Clever, 18; Antoine Daghuert, 18, Gary R. Miltimore, 19, and Sandra Rousseau, 20, all of St. Clair Shores and Benjamin H. Parks, 20, of Highland Park.

Preliminary hearings were set for Nov. 19.

Sedalia Attorney On Bar Committee

Fred B. Hulse, Sedalia attorney, has been reappointed to a one-year term on a special committee of the American Bar Association.

Hulse will serve on the "Evaluation of Disciplinary Enforcement" committee. He is one of 25 Missouri lawyers appointed to the committees of the ABA.

Tax Statements Are Mailed Out

The Pettis County collector's office is sending out statements for personal property and real estate taxes for county residents living outside of Sedalia.

Letters have been mailed from the collector's office reminding residents that these taxes are due and payable by the first of the year.

Former Sedalian Is Subject of Article

A picture of Mrs. Lucy Davis, Phoenix, Ariz., former Sedalian, and a story about her, appeared in The Oct. 27 issue of The Phoenix Gazette. The feature, by Pam Van Buskirk, was one of a series on working women as a salute during National Business Women's Week.

Mrs. Davis, according to the article, is administrative assistant and commercial space manager of the Arizona State Fair, which is a year-round task. She begins working on next year's state fair the moment the current one closes. Arizona state fair runs Nov. 1 through 11.

Selling commercial and exhibit space takes a year. This year there were more than 400 commercial exhibitors.

Housed in the 50,000 square-foot commercial exhibit building are more than 225 commercial exhibitors. To find exhibitors and concessions, Mrs. Davis sends applications to those qualified to come back from last year. After these are returned, she estimates the amount of space left to offer to new applicants. Then thousands of letters are sent out to Arizona business and manufacturers seeking new and interesting exhibits and concessions.

Mrs. Davis feels that the best way to compare the Arizona Fair with other state fairs is to go see other fairs. This year, she visited the Florida State Fair, the fair at Del Mar, Calif., Pomona, Calif., and Pima County Fair at Tucson. From this she gets new ideas and new approaches to old themes.

Art Exhibit Will Go To All Schools

An art exhibit now at Heber Hunt School will be presented at all of the public schools through Dec. 17. The exhibit is being shown in Sedalia through the auspices of the Missouri State Council on the Arts, Kansas City, and is open to the public.

The schedule at the schools will be: Heber Hunt, Nov. 11, 12, 13; Horace Mann, Nov. 14, 15, 18; Hubbard, Nov. 19, 20, 21; Jefferson, Nov. 22, 25, 26; Washington, Nov. 27, Dec. 2, 3; Whittier, Dec. 4, 5, 6; Mark Twain, Dec. 9, 10, 11; Smith-Cotton High School, Dec. 12-17.

This children's exhibit of art comes from five different areas, Maryknoll Mission Schools, Japan, Korea, Bolivia, Peru and the Philippines and consists of 47 pieces of art done by children between the ages of eight and 18 years old, and is in a variety of types and subjects.

Mrs. Mary Ella Hausman is chairman of the group locally bringing the exhibit to Sedalia.

Saddle Club Holds A Regular Meeting

The State Fair Saddle Club held its regular monthly meeting Nov. 7 at the REA Building, starting with a covered dish dinner. Three new members were taken into the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Branson of Bland, Mo., gave a program showing their films on their two cross-country trail rides held in June and August. More than 1100 persons from all walks of life from several states participated in the August ride.

At the close of the entertainment four of the visitors expressed a desire to become members of the Saddle Club.

The members accepted the invitation of the Moose Club to be in the parade Nov. 9.

Plans are also being made to be in the Annual Christmas Parade which will be on Nov. 2.

A film showing the building of the replica of the Mayflower ship and its crossing of the Atlantic under sail in 1956 made an interesting program for members of the Sedalia Rotary Club on Monday night at Hotel Bothwell. The program was given by Bill Thorp, of Thorp Transfer, who was introduced by John Zulauf.

The crossing was accomplished in fifty-four days and covered 5435 miles. The handling of foodstuffs without refrigeration, the trimming of the ship and all ship functions were the same as those experienced by the sailors who brought the first Mayflower to this country in 1620, he commented.

Dr. Stanley Fisher, club president, called attention to the current week being designated as "Rotary Foundation Week." The Rotary Foundation provides educational and vocational study programs throughout the world for bright young people who display signs of leadership. Its objective is to foster world peace through international understanding and friendship.

This year the Foundation is providing $1.25 million in awards to 540 young men and women. The local club is a 400 per cent club since it has paid 40 per member into the foundation fund.

President Fisher announced that the nomination committee for zone three of Rotary International had nominated Harry Finks, Clinton banker and a past district Rotary governor, for membership on the International board of directors.

Mrs. William Hopkins, a visitor at the meeting, encouraged members to support the Sedalia Council of the Arts by a season membership. A membership entitles attendance at the Conservatory Jaxx Sextet program, on Nov. 16; the Contemporary Dance Sextet, on Jan. 18; the Missouri Vanguard Theatre presentation, "Blythe Spirit," on March 7.

Harry Walch, United Fund campaign chairman, reported $64,590 has been contributed in gifts toward the goal of $80,000. He urged all business people to make their contribution and to complete the canvas of their personnel so the drive may be successfully concluded.

Student guests presented by Don Barnes were: Robert Lindsey and Robert Estes, of Sacred Heart High School, and Mark Kempton and Don Crank, of Smith-Cotton High School.

Group singing was led by James Denny.

Wesley's first professional appearance was at Odessa, Tex., last January. He won $12,640 during the ensuing months.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Marion County Treasurer John Dobkins, defeated for re-election last week, did a bit of post-campaigning Monday.

Before the election a light plane circled the city trailing a banner reading "John Dobkins—42B"—the number of his spot on the voting machines. During the Veterans Day parade the same plane circled overhead with another banner. It read: "Need a job—42B."

Bad weather had kept the pilot from fulfilling his contract during the campaign, so he was delivering the last flying time he owed.

Christmas Seals Sent Out

Negro Jurists Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal courts across the country, anticipating a new law that goes into effect next month, are seeking Negroes and others from minority groups as jury candidates.

The Federal Jury Selection Act passed by Congress in March, was intended to meet complaints that Negroes too often are passed over in federal jury selection, and it is expected to give representation on juries to all economic classes.

Proponents of the law, including President Johnson, said that there had been a tendency in the past to exclude the poor, or members of minority groups, from federal jury duty.

Apart from setting up a system of random jury selection, the act doubles the daily pay for jurors—to $20—and provides more generous subsistence allowances.

The act becomes effective Dec. 23, and senior U.S. district court judges across the country have in recent weeks been supervising the at-random selection of jury panels from which future jurors may be taken.

Among those who may claim exclusion are people over 70, physicians, dentists, schoolteachers, clergymen, mothers with children under 10 years of age, members of the armed forces, and policemen and firemen.

The Battle of the Alamo lasted 13 days.

The 1968 Pettis County Tuberculosis Association Christmas Seal fund drive began Tuesday when 7,000 letters were mailed from the new Sedalia post office — the first bulk mailing from that facility.

Theme for the 1968 drive is "Peace and Friendship." The Christmas seals this year are a four-unit design featuring a brown and white partridge, golden pear and green leaf from a pear tree.

The artist, William Eisele, Columbus, Ohio, used a quail, a member of the partridge family, for the theme, "Partridge in a Pear Tree."

Henry Lamm, presiding judge of the Pettis County Court, is Christmas Seal campaign chairman this year. Dr. Harry Purviance is president and Mrs. John W. Welch serves as secretary and director of mailing. Mrs. Shirley Wagner is treasurer.

According to Mrs. Welch, the annual "Call for Artists" for the Christmas Seal designs is open to anyone. All entries are judged, she said, and anyone from Pettis County could enter the competition.

Mrs. Welch said contributions received from the 1968 campaign here would be used for the detection of tuberculosis.

Contributions may be made to Mrs. Shirley Wagner, 107½ West Third.

Skid for the "College"

Unless Americans are political hot-rodgers at heart, delighting in roaring full-tilt toward an electoral collision just for the thrill of seeing how narrowly they can miss it, or unless the public memory is even shorter than cynics claim it is, 1968 will be the last year in which the United States elected its chief executive by the archaic Electoral College method.

Speculation about what could have happened had neither Richard Nixon nor Hubert Humphrey attained the magic number of 270 electoral votes remains, happily, speculation.

The nation has been spared, by a squeak of good luck, the ordeal of waiting months to learn who would be the next president. It will not have to witness any spectacle of partisan wheeling and dealing, either in the electoral College or the House of Representatives. It will not undergo the crisis of confidence that could very well have been brought about by such an eventuality.

But one thing is not a matter of speculation but of certainty. Had the election been thrown into the House of Representatives, and even had there been a prompt, orderly vote, the tens of millions of American voters who cast their ballots for a president on Nov. 5 would have had no say at all in his final choice on Jan. 6.

Consider only one ridiculous ramification:

The five smallest states have but one representative each — Alaska, Delaware, Nevada, Vermont and Wyoming. Yet the five men representing these states, whose combined population is less than one one-hundredth of the total U.S. population, would have cast one-tenth of the ballots for president.

Conversely, some of the largest states — Illinois, for instance — whose delegations will be evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats in the new Congress, could conceivably have been deadlocked and have cast no vote at all.

It will not do to blame it all on George Wallace, who may or may not be around to throw the same scare into the populace four years hence. As long as the Electoral College system remains, a deadlock can occur in any future presidential election, even when there are only two major candidates.

The best argument for the system has been that the lopsided electoral vote that usually accrues to the winner somehow legitimizes a close popular vote. It reconciles the nation to a president who may have been elected by a bare majority, or by an actual minority.

This argument is not convincing in 1968. The American people are surely mature enough to abide by a popular vote decision, no matter how narrow. The possibility that they are not is a far more remote danger than the possibility that the nation will some year wake up to find itself in an electoral limbo the day after a presidential election.

A constitutional amendment, either abolishing the Electoral College outright or revising it so that it accurately reflects the will of the people, must be one of the first orders of business for the 91st Congress.

Washington Merry Go Round

Elections Affected Truce Talks

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — It's clear to those who read the secret dispatches that the American election played a part in the timing of the bombing halt.

The South Vietnamese wanted to elect Nixon and tried to delay. The Russians figured Nixon would win so they persuaded the North Vietnamese to make their move before the election on the assumption it would be easier to deal with Lyndon Johnson than Nixon.

The Russians became convinced in September that Nixon would win the election. Therefore they persuaded Hanoi that they would get the most favorable terms by seeking an agreement during the campaign. They argued that President Johnson should be willing to end the bombing in order to help elect Hubert Humphrey.

Once the United States started down the road to peace, Soviet diplomats felt, Nixon would be unable to turn back.

The first break came on Oct. 9 when the North Vietnamese made cautious overtures to the United States at Paris. Eventually this led to the bombing halt which President Johnson announced on Oct. 31.

The South Vietnamese also had the American election in mind, however, when they refused to participate in the new peace negotiations. They remembered that Nixon, when vice president in 1954, had favored sending U.S. ground troops to what was then French Indo-China and they figured he would take a harder line as President and save them from making the concessions which Johnson was demanding. So their leaks about the bombing pause and their refusal to attend the Paris talks were intended to prevent Humphrey from getting any political mileage from the bombing pause.

Now that the bombing has been stopped, the President next will push ahead and seek a ceasefire. He is ready to scale down the fighting in South Vietnam as fast as the enemy will do the same. He is keeping Nixon informed of these moves in considerable detail.

—The Enemy Subsidies—

Reconnaissance planes and spy satellites are now keeping an hour-by-hour check on military movements in North Vietnam. Electronic devices, infrared cameras and other secret gadgets are also monitoring the movement down the infiltration routes into South Vietnam. President Johnson has assured his military commanders that he will resume the bombing if North Vietnam takes advantage of the moratorium by building up its strength in the south but it looks as if this would not be necessary.

Enemy infiltration south has dwindled from 25,000 men in July to 2,000 men moving south in October. Five of the seven north Vietnamese divisions in the south have also pulled back across the border. The demilitarized zone has been cleared of North Vietnamese units. There are no enemy concentrations within 50 miles of Saigon.

Gen. Creighton Abrams, the American commander, has acknowledged that a serious enemy offensive is now impossible and that the enemy can no longer build up for a surprise attack without our knowledge. Hit-and-run guerrilla attacks can be expected to continue, but it would seem that North Vietnam is moving in good faith towards a truce.

—Traveling in Comfort—

Three Air Force generals who like to travel in comfort have fixed up a C135 transport plane with a plush, new interior for their personal use. They are: Generals James Ferguson, Jack Merrell and Harry Goldsworthy.

They sent the plane, serial number 6122663, to Tinker Air Force Base, Oklahoma for remodeling. There they ordered installed sound-proofing, interior walls, overhead lighting, bunks, reupholstered seats and an easy chair and table. The plane is also being fitted with new navigational and electronic gear.

The Air Force, when queried stated that the generals had scrounged interior fixtures from scrapped Air Force planes and that they would be permitted to use the plane only on authorized, official trips.

—Race to Moon—

America's astronauts are eager to accept whatever personal risk is necessary to beat the Russians around the moon.

Space officials are now trying to make up their minds whether to take a chance on a manned flight to the moon and back next month. The safest course would be one simple swing around the moon. But the astronauts would like to make several orbits of the moon before heading back to earth. This could be dangerous.

However, the astronauts believe it's worth the risk. Space officials have promised to make a decision this week.

—Diplomatic Pouch—

Another crisis may be brewing in Berlin. Intelligence reports warn that the East Germans will begin by increasing red tape and obstructing the flow of traffic into Berlin. Several Pentagon generals have urged the Joint Chiefs of Staff that we rush another American battalion or two into Berlin as a show of strength. The Russians are having almost as much trouble with Czech students as New York had with University of Columbia students or, as President Diaz Ordaz had with Mexican students. There isn't much Russian troops can do with student demonstrators, unless they want to engage in wholesale shooting. It was kept a secret, but 130 Mexican students were killed by the Mexican Army before student riots in Mexico were finally suppressed.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q — My mother gave me title to her home as a present. Will any tax be involved?

A — Gifts are not taxable to the person receiving them. However, the person making the gift may be liable for gift tax if the value of the gifts to one person is more than $3,000 in any one year.

The gift tax also allows each person to make a total of $30,000 in tax free gifts which may be spread over a period of years or used in any one year in addition to the $3,000 annual exclusion. Your mother may be entitled to use this provision of the law in the situation you describe.

High Court's Duty---'Sell' Validity of Crucial Rulings

By BRUCE BLOSSATT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Only in the din of a presidential campaign could such relatively slight attention have been paid to President Johnson's appeal to Chief Justice Earl Warren to stay on the Supreme Court until the emotional fires surrounding the Abe Fortas matter had died down.

Johnson's unsuccessful bid to name Associate Justice Fortas as Warren's successor is not the first instance, of course, in which court appointments have led to bitter battles. Some were a good deal worse than this one.

But the President's injection of the issue of emotionalism requires more careful dealing than it has since received in a nation distracted by campaigning.

On the occasion of a Warren anniversary on the high court some time back, this reporter canvassed the views of judges, professors of constitutional law, veteran private and government lawyers who have practiced before the Supreme Court. Written works on the court were also examined extensively.

Several judgments emerging from that survey have application to the current controversy.

For one thing, those most knowledgeable about the high court's role in U.S. government and society simply scoff at the notion that the "popularity" of its decisions should be directly relevant to its work.

By virtue of its place at the peak of the judicial pyramid, the Supreme Court is designed to hear only the most controversial disputes in American life. If they could be settled in any simpler, clearer, less arbitrary way, they would never reach the pinnacle.

Since a court decision is inescapably arbitrary, whether 5 to 4 or 9 to 0, the losing side in any dispute—be it legislative reapportionment, prayer in the schools, or whatever—is bound to brand the decision "unpopular."

It is unimaginable that the disputants on both sides of a controversy grave enough to reach the Supreme Court could all be pleased by the outcome.

One can note here that the decisions of the electorate in a democracy, and the whole concept of majority rule, are also arbitrary. No president wins office by a vote of 100 to 0. It is far more likely to be 51 to 49, leaving 49 per cent of the voting populace presumably unhappy over the outcome.

In such circumstances, a president who understands his responsibility to govern the whole people moves to enlist at least a substantial proportion of the "losers" behind his major endeavors.

Implicit in the idea of majority rule is the corollary that the losers accept the verdict which went against them, move reasonably to make government and the country work under the winning president, and bide time until they get another chance to capture the day for their candidate and their policies.

The thoughtful students of the Supreme Court, and some practitioners before it, believe—whether they be liberal or conservative—that the tribunal has a responsibility not unlike a victorious president's.

It must, in other words, educate the nation, and especially the lower reaches of the judiciary itself, to an acceptance of the validity and worth of its most crucial decisions.

This reporter, however, found that many liberals and conservatives agreed that at least in the last 15 years the high court has too seldom done this.

Law professor Paul Kauper says the court has an inevitable duty to "ground its decisions in reasoned argument." Too often, he adds, the court "fails to illuminate" and thus leaves lower court judges and lawyers—not to mention the public—in the dark as to the rational and coherent principles which are presumed to underlie well-taken decisions.

What we have, say these critics at both ends of the spectrum, are hastily conceived, thinly supported rulings which are not much more than bare assertions and offer no help even to those who may approve the decisions—let alone those who do not.

It may not be the Supreme Court's job to make popular choices. But it does have an immense assignment—to make its decisions understandable, and sufficiently well-explained so that sooner or later, if not immediately, a high proportion of the American people can accept them as fair and reasonable.

"Let's not forget to send a post card to Mayor Daley!"

THE GLOBAL VIEW

Yugoslavs Set to Fight If Soviet Army Invades

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Foreign News Analyst

The old Balkan pot is boiling again. Despite Soviet denials, the Yugoslavs insist that the Russians are sending troops to their Bulgarian satellite for a possible invasion of their country and neighboring Albania.

Twice in recent days President Tito warned Moscow that he intends to fight against an attack by the Red army. "Whoever it may be, from whatever side, who tries to threaten our sovereignty and independence will meet an iron wall of our people," he said in a speech on Oct. 21.

The 77-year-old Yugoslav leader was sharply critical of Czechoslovakia's failure to resist Soviet aggression. Yugoslavia, he said, will continue to spend money on weapons "because a people not ready to fight with arms in its hands cannot be sure of its freedom and independence."

Apart from neighboring Albania, which supports Red China against Russia, Yugoslavia remains the last "revisionist" nation in the Balkans and East Europe. She has replaced Czechoslovakia as Moscow's favorite propaganda target.

The Yugoslavs even relate Moscow's increased pressure on their country to the unprecedented increase in Russian naval activities in the Mediterranean and their possible extension to the Adriatic.

This also explains why anti-Russian Albania which has long opposed Tito's "liberal communism" has decided to bury the ideological hatchet and seek a rapprochement with Yugoslavia. Fearful of a Russian attack from the sea, Albania is currently reinforcing her coastal defenses with Red China's assistance.

Thus, while the NATO nations, including the United States, continue to explore the possibility of an East-West detente, Russia's opponents in the Communist camp are preparing for war.

Marxist-Leninists themselves, the leaders of Red China, Yugoslavia and Albania understand better than the West the duplicity of their Marxist-Leninist counterparts in the Kremlin. They see Moscow's "new" theory that Russia has the right to intervene to destroy anti-Soviet movements in Communist lands as a permanent threat to their sovereignty.

"With their invasion of Czechoslovakia the Russians have crossed the Rubicon." This is the slogan repeated daily in the Yugoslav information media.

A prominent writer, Zoran Gluscevic, even compared Moscow's rape of Czechoslovakia with a short story by the famous Czech author Franz Kafka who, 50 years ago, wrote about "primitive hordes" invading from the north.

The manner in which the Russians and their Bulgarian, Polish and East German satellites are suppressing the Czechoslovaks resembles Kafka's "nomads," Gluscevic wrote.

Everything the Russians do is based on the logic of force which means that "common sense has no value for the aggressors." They are like Kafka's "strolling conquerors, whose professions are looting and conquest."

In the opinion of Yugoslav leaders, the "unpredictability" of the Soviet rulers is an immediate and not just a potential threat. They take a grim view of Bulgaria's claims to Macedonia, that part of Yugoslavia which fronts on Bulgaria.

Macedonia is a traditional source of irredentism in the Balkans. Bulgaria's new claims to the territory, obviously orchestrated by Moscow, have mounted in recent weeks.

According to the Yugoslav daily newspaper Vjesnik, Bulgaria's anti-Macedonian campaign is being used as a pretext for an eventual Soviet attack on Yugoslavia.

There is no doubt that, unlike the Czechoslovaks, the Yugoslavs are determined to resist Russian aggression. Tito made this clear when he recently met with Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, American undersecretary of state.

Though a confirmed Communist, Tito asked for aid from America should Communist Russia attack Yugoslavia.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Takes Strong Will Power To Kick Smoking Habit

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — How can one give up smoking? I have tried without success.

A — The drugs advertised to help you quit smoking are not very successful and are not 100 per cent safe. Strong motivation and strong will power are needed. Many a man who was advised to stop smoking because of a heart attack or other condition aggravated by smoking has kicked the habit overnight. Does it make any sense to wait until this happens to you?

Many ex-smokers have found that it helps to drink a glass of water or a soft drink slowly instead of lighting a cigarette. They may find themselves drinking eight or more glasses a day at first. This is fine, because it flushes the nicotine out of their system.

Q — Does chewing tobacco have any harmful effects?

A — Chewing tobacco has the same harmful effects as smoking, but to a lesser degree. The effect varies with the individual and with how much he chews and how much tobacco juice he inadvertently swallows.

Q — I am very sensitive to tobacco smoke. Is there anything I can take for relief when I am around smokers?

A — Yes, take a seat near a window or door.

Q — A recent article warned about a little brown spider that may be found in shoes and clothing and whose bite is poisonous. How is it recognized and what are the symptoms?

A — The brown recluse spider, found in southern, midwestern and southwestern states, is giving all spiders a bad name. It is about 1/2-inch long and 1/4-inch wide. It has an oval body and its color varies from light to dark brown. There is a dark spot on its head, shaped like a violin. Following a bite by this spider, there may be slight itching. After six to eight hours, the area becomes red and tender to touch. Within 12 to 24 hours, chills, fever, vomiting and restlessness may develop, especially if the victim is a child.

The victim should be given an injection of methylprednisolone at once, then admitted to a hospital. Some doctors believe that surgical removal of the area surrounding the bite is the best way to prevent the area from becoming gangrenous.

Many animals, when attacked by an enemy, flee in a very erratic way, such as zig-zagging, wildly bouncing or even spinning.

Ann Landers

Marsupial, Yes Nose-breeder, No

Dear Ann Landers: I'm glad you didn't fall for that put on about raccoons breeding through the nose. The old myth keeps reappearing periodically and it is amazing how many intelligent people believe it.

Perhaps the reason for the misinformation is that people keep confusing the raccoon with the opossum—and the opossum DOES breed through the nose. The sperm is deposited in the sinus cavity and through some mysterious process (some naturalists describe the process as a series of sneezes) the sperm finds its way to the female opossum's abdomen.

The opossum, as you know, is not a mammal but a marsupial. And, I'm sure you are aware that all marsupials breed through the nose.

Please continue to set your readers straight. A lot of them need it. —WILLIE

Dear Willie: Yes — and you are one of them. Opossums are indeed marsupials. But marsupials are lower mammals and they breed just like higher mammals.

Someone has sold you a weird bill of goods, my friend. Your letter is so loaded with misinformation that it would take the entire column to set you straight. Buy a book.

And now a word to the hundreds of clowns out there in Landers Land who wrote to tell me that raccoons DO breed through the nose except when they have colds, and then, of course, they breed through the mouth. Thank you for that gem. The first time I heard it I laughed so hard I nearly kicked the slats out of my cradle.

Dear Ann Landers: Cy and I have been married 10 years and we have four children. We have always lived in his parents' home. They call it "your wing," but it's really one big house and I am sick to death of it.

We can never entertain even one couple without including my in-laws. If I have a girl friend over for coffee, my mother-in-law joins us. Every time a package arrives my mother-in-law stands over me while I unwrap it. When I try to discipline the children my father-in-law butts in and says, "Don't be so hard on them."

Cy has a fine job and makes a good salary. Our friends who make less money own homes, and nice ones at that. My father-in-law keeps saying a depression is coming and we should stay where we are, save our money, and when they die we'll inherit the house. My in-laws are wrecking my life. I am becoming more resentful every day. I have tension headaches and live on tranquilizers. How can I avoid a divorce or a nervous breakdown? —SONNY'S WIFE

Dear Wife: Your problem is not your in-laws. It's your husband. Furthermore, you're not exactly blame free since you permitted this miserable arrangement to go on for 10 years.

Now, you must enlist your doctor's help. Ask him to speak to your husband about what this "togetherness" is doing to your health. If your husband refuses to budge after that, you have two choices — leave with the children and hope he'll grown up and join you. Or — stay where you are and suffer more of the same.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents... if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

14-Year-Old Boy Collects Own Ransom

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was sent home with his mother Monday night after he was caught collecting his own ransom, police said.

Local and federal investigators began setting a snare for two kidnapers after the mother, whom they did not identify, reported her son was being held hostage. She said the boy called home saying the men would release him after she left a package containing $800 at a church here on Temple Street.

Police instructed the woman to leave a fake ransom package while they waited in the darkness. They said the person who collected it was the missing son. He will appear before juvenile-court authorities.

LaMonte Women In Meeting

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the LaMonte United Methodist Church, Friday, Nov. 8, at 11 a.m.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. R. B. Burke.

Mrs. Vernon McMullin, Spiritual Life secretary, used "Daily Prayer Dissolves Your Care" as a devotional.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Clyde Heffelfinger, program chairman, used her topic, "Christian View on New Math."

In the afternoon a charter meeting was held celebrating the union of the Women's Society of World Service of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Heffelfinger, presented "The Heritage of the Women of the Brethren Church" and Mrs. Claude Craig presented "The Heritage of the Women of the Methodist Church."

Miss Mary Anderson gave a history of the local Woman's Society.

A picture of Christ, a poster, "I am the Bread of Life," and a loaf of bread were placed on a table covered with a white cloth, the bread symbolizing a daily life in Christ and task in the missions of the world.

The meditation "Bread of Life" was given by Mrs. R. B. Burke. The presentation of the ingredients were made by Mrs. George Swope, Mrs. Edna Rissler, Mrs. William Bolton, and Mrs. Everett Wing, each placing the ingredients flour, milk, salt and yeast on the table.

After signing the charter, the ladies went to the basement two by two like the disciples on the road to Emmaus where the Agape Feast was prepared and served by Mrs. E. E. Templeton and Mrs. Ralph Crawford.

A quartet composed of Mrs. George Swope, Mrs. Vernon McMullin, Mrs. Everett Wing and Mrs. L. L. Wade sang, "Let Us Break Bread Together on Our Knees."

The meeting closed with the Doxology and benediction.

There were 43 charter members.

Policemen Winners In a Horse Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen blue-helmeted mounted policemen put their matched brown horses through a series of intricate drills Monday night at the opening of the National Horse Show.

After the 12-minute exhibition at Madison Square Garden, Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary accepted a trophy from the horse show on behalf of the riders, all members of the Police Department's mounted squad.

Four Division Races May Last Until Final Weekend

NEW YORK (AP) — The way things are going in the National Football League, the four division races may not be decided until the final weekend of the season, Dec. 14-15.

Baltimore and Los Angeles are tied at 8-1 in the Coastal Division and appear headed for another head-to-head confrontation at Los Angeles on the last day of the season, Dec. 15.

Gremlins Win First Round Tourney Test

The Sacred Heart Gremlins won their first-round contest in the Kaysinger Tournament Monday night at Lincoln, defeating Green Ridge's Tigers, 78-57.

Jim Wanserski was high point man for the Grems with 26, closely followed by Ed Gonser, who added 20. High for Green Ridge was Richardson with 13.

In the volleyball action, the Tigers turned the tables on the Gremlin squad with a 39-26 victory.

Score by quarters:
Sacred Heart 20 18 16 24—78
Green Ridge 16 17 11 13—57

Individual scoring: Sacred Heart — Wanserski, 26; Huhman, 18; Gonser, 20; Brown, 10; Fanghor, 2; D. Cook, 2; Green Ridge — Richardson, 13; Ream, 6; R. Brown, 7; Arnett, 10; Bailey, 10; Carter, 9.

tion at Los Angeles on the last day of the season, Dec. 15.

Cleveland, 6-3, has a half-game edge on St. Louis, 5-3-1, in the Century Division where both the Browns and Cardinals are moving toward a climactic meeting at St. Louis, Saturday, Dec. 14.

Dallas, 7-2, had its Capitol Division lead sliced to one game when it was upset by New York, 6-3. The Cowboys and Giants wind up at Yankee Stadium Dec. 15.

In the scrambled Central Division, Chicago and Minnesota are tied at 5-4 but both Detroit and Green Bay, 3-5-1, still are in the race. This could shake down to a Dec. 15 visit of Green Bay to Chicago.

up by divisions:

Coastal
Baltimore—St. Louis, Minnesota, Atlanta, at Green Bay, at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles—At San Francisco, New York, at Minnesota, Chicago, Baltimore.

The Colts wind up with two real rough road games and also must deal with a desperate St. Louis team and the wheel-up Vikings as well as Atlanta.

The Rams will need all their muscle at San Francisco and Minnesota and even the Giants look tougher after upending Dallas. The Bears and Colts provide the final test.

Cleveland—at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, at Washington, at St. Louis.

St. Louis—at Baltimore, Atlanta, at Pittsburgh, at New York, Cleveland.

The Browns are on a four-game win streak with weaker Pittsburgh and Philadelphia immediately ahead while Cards must visit Baltimore before getting a chance at Atlanta and Pittsburgh.

Key games for both may be New York, which Cleveland meets at home and St. Louis on the road. The Browns could have it wrapped up before that Dec. 14 game in St. Louis.

Capitol
Dallas—at Washington, at Chicago, Washington, Pittsburgh, at New York.
New York—Philadelphia, at

Los Angeles, at Cleveland, St. Louis, Dallas.

The Cowboys have a good chance to apply the clincher before they ever get around to the rematch with the Giants. Dallas has two games with Washington and one with Pittsburgh sandwiched around a tough road test at Chicago.

The Giants must handle the Rams and Browns on the road and Eagles and Cards at home before thinking about Dallas.

Central
Minnesota—Detroit, at Baltimore, Los Angeles, at San Francisco, at Philadelphia.

Chicago—Atlanta, Dallas, at New Orleans, at Los Angeles, Green Bay.

In this zany race it is not safe to leave out Green Bay and Detroit, although each is 1½ games back. After Sunday's game at Minnesota, the Lions have the easiest path—New Orleans, Philadelphia, Atlanta and Washington.

Without Gale Sayers, the Bears can have trouble in any of their last five games. The Vikings also can not afford a letup before their finale at Philadelphia.

Green Bay could move back on top in the next two weeks while playing New Orleans and Washington but then wind up with San Francisco, Baltimore and Chicago.

When they finally decide it, the Capitol winners will play at the Century champs, Dec. 21 and the Central survivor will play at the Coastal winners Dec. 22.

The league title game will be played Dec. 29 at the home field of the Eastern champ.

Sunday's Hero

Homer Jones of the New York Giants, Sunday's hero, catches up on a backlog of fan mail at Yankee Stadium after returning from Dallas where the Giants trounced the Cowboys 27-21.

Homer took a large part in the battle as he hauled in Fran Tarkenton's 60-yard pass and ran home free to put the Giants in front, 21-14 at one point in the game. (UPI)

Oklahoma Team Not Going to Surrender

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Oklahoma isn't going to surrender its Big Eight football championship without a fight, Sooner Coach Chuck Fairbanks said Monday.

Fairbanks already has made a believer out of Kansas Coach Pepper Rodgers, and he doesn't have to prove it to Missouri's Dan Devine.

The three coaches of the Big Eight's top three teams swapped views by telephone at Monday's weekly conference briefing for newsmen, and praise of the opposition flowed wider than the Missouri River.

"We're not ready to give up on winning it (the championship)," Fairbanks said. "They are going to have to beat us."

"I'm more impressed with Oklahoma than I was before the season," said Rodgers, whose Jayhawks suffered their first loss of the year at the Sooners' hands, 27-23, last Saturday. "We played a pretty good game, and we got beat."

"We have tremendous respect for Oklahoma," offered Devine. "They've never given us a game yet, and I doubt if they're going to give us one now, with them competing for the conference championship."

Missouri is 5-0, Kansas 4-1 and Oklahoma 3-1 in the Big Eight, with Missouri at Oklahoma this Saturday and Kansas at Missouri next week.

Devine, whose Tigers face the unwelcome task of taking on the dangerous Sooners at Norman, Okla., had this analysis of Oklahoma:

"What bothers me most is that at this stage of the game Oklahoma is just much better than it was last year. They have changed their offense. They do so many more things offensively, and are so much harder to defend."

"They've had injuries that hampered their early development. I think they defended Kansas as well as anybody could."

"Oklahoma has such great quickness, and they run the option better than anybody. Bob Warmack can move toward the goal line quicker than anybody I've ever seen."

Fairbanks left no doubt of his respect for Missouri, too.

"I feel," he said, "like I got out of the frying pan. I think Missouri has the best defense in the league. And they're averaging over 30 points a game, and they're going for the championship."

"They've got more running backs than anybody."

Big Eight Commissioner Wayne Duke said both Kansas and Missouri remain in the running for bowl bids. There was little doubt, however, that Kansas' loss to Oklahoma had taken some of the edge off the Hawks' chances.

It now appears Georgia and Penn State may be selected for the Orange Bowl, if both win this week. Georgia has a tough date with Auburn to pass first, however.

Around the conference:
Missouri—Dennis Poppe, regular safety whose forearm was fractured four weeks ago, will be available for the Oklahoma game this week. "He will play if we can get him back into condition," said Coach Dan Devine.

Henry Brown, the kicker, suffered a muscle tear in a shoulder last Saturday and is expected to be out one week. Devine said the kicking chores might be returned to Rocky Wallace, defensive tackle who had the job last year.

Oklahoma—The Sooners worked without pads Monday, looking at Missouri plays and formations as depicted by the Oklahoma freshman squad. They also drilled on their kicking game.

Oklahoma State—The Cowboys had Monday off to heal their bruises. "We didn't take a holiday due to any lack of respect for Iowa State, you may be sure," said Coach Phil Cutchin.

Kansas State—Jerry Lawson, No. 2 fullback, is out for the rest of the season with a leg injury and Cornelius Davis, first string fullback, has a lame knee. Coach Vince Gibson said Larry Brown will move to fullback and Russell Harrison will play tailback against Kansas if the need arises.

Kansas—Five Jayhawk regulars will have no contact drills this week, but all are expected to be ready for Kansas State. They are George McGowan, split end; John Mosier, tight end; David Aikins, offensive guard; Al Jakobic, middle guard; and John Cook, defensive end.

Iowa State—The Cyclones had to clear seven inches of snow off a practice field for Monday's brief workout. "We're bruised, but I think everybody will be able to play Saturday against Oklahoma State," said Coach Johnny Majors.

Manhandles India Team In Interzone Final

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — "I think," said Arthur Ashe confidently, "we will win."

And from the way the 25-year-old Army lieutenant from Richmond, Va., and his teammates manhandled India in the Davis Cup interzone final here, Ashe's prediction might come true when the United States takes its challenge to Australia next month.

The United States won four of the best-of-5 match series with the strong Indian team to advance to the showdown Dec. 26-28 in Adelaide against the defending champions for amateur tennis' most prized possession.

Australia has won the Cup 11 of the last 13 years. It lost it to the Americans in 1963 but won it back the next year.

Ashe, the first Negro ever to win a major tennis title, led the United States into the Davis Cup Challenge Round for the first time since 1964 with a 6-1, 6-3, 6-3 coast past Ramathan Krishnan Monday.

That gave the Americans a 3-1 lead in the series and made the day's second match between Clark Graebner of New York and India's Premjit Lall little more than an exhibition.

Nonetheless, Graebner needed three hours and 20 minutes to dispose of his spunky foe, 9-11, 9-7, 7-5, 6-4.

Ashe had turned back Lall in one of Saturday's singles, but Krishnan had whipped Graebner. Stan Smith and Bob Lutz of Los Angeles teamed for a doubles victory Sunday to give the United States the 2-1 lead heading into the final two matches.

But Ashe quickly removed any doubt, completely dominating the experienced Indian, who appeared tired from the two previous matches. The match was played in 87-degree temperature.

Value Is Realized

KANSAS CITY (AP) — For two seasons, Steve Zabel has been recognized as one of the Big Eight Conference's premier tight ends, but it is only the past two weeks that his real value to Oklahoma has been realized.

Coach Chuck Fairbanks moved the rangy Sooner end to defense two weeks ago, and the results have been little short of spectacular.

Zabel, a 6-foot-4, 212-pound junior from Thornton, Colo. put the backbone in the Oklahoma defense which enabled the Sooners to upset Kansas, 27-23, last Saturday. In addition, he continues to fill a key role for the Sooners on offense, becoming a genuine rarity in today's college—the two-way player.

For his performance against Kansas, Zabel was named Tuesday the Big Eight's lineman-of-the-week.

Against the third-ranked and unbeaten (before Saturday) Jayhawks, Zabel:

Led Oklahoma's defensive charge which was credited with 11 hard rushes on KU quarterback Bobby Douglass, tackling him five times and forcing him to throw quickly six times. Zabel personally was credited with four unassisted tackles and with helping on 10 more. He also blocked a field goal attempt and just missed blocking an extra point attempt which sailed wide. Caught two passes for 15 yards on offense, with both going for first downs on Sooner touchdown drives deep in KU territory in the first half.

Punted seven times for a 38.8 yard average, including kicks of 48, 49 and 42 yards in the first half when his boots kept the Jayhawks at bay and including one which rolled dead on the Kansas four. Zabel kept the ball away from Donnie Shanklin and Kansas had no chance to return five of the punts.

"It's even more significant when you consider it was only his second game on defense," Fairbanks said, "and he played on offense and made some key catches for us."

"He gives some stature to our defensive team. He gives us somebody to rally around."

Kansas Coach Pepper Rodgers agreed. "There's no doubt Zabel has added a psychological lift to their defense," Rodgers said, "because he's a big, strong guy. Anytime you put a guy like that on defense, it gives you a lift."

Fairbanks said he plans to keep Zabel on defense, but also plans to use him about 30 percent of the time on offense, as he did Saturday.

"I think it's asking quite a bit of a boy nowadays to ask him to play both ways," said Fairbanks. "He got tired in the second half, but he wanted to play; he wanted to win."

Also nominated for the Big Eight lineman honor this week were Missouri tackle Jim Anderson, Kansas State end Manuel Barrera, Oklahoma State center Jon Kolb, Kansas linebacker Emery Hicks, Iowa State end Sam Campbell, Nebraska tackle Bob Liggett and Colorado end Mike Schnitker.

Picked Monday as back-of-the-week was Missouri safety Roger Wehrli, who returned six punts 149 yards in the Tigers' 42-7 rout of Iowa State. That broke the Big Eight single-game punt return record of 135 yards set in the season opener against Kentucky by Wehrli.

Hodge To Demonstrate His Wrestling Skills

Danny Hodge

Talented Danny Hodge will display his wrestling skills for Sedalia fans tonight when he makes his area debut at Convention Hall.

The junior heavyweight champion will test free-swinging Tornado Murdock in the best of three-falls main event. Three other clashes are scheduled, with the first starting at 8:15.

Hodge, a 200-pounder from Tulsa, earned collegiate fame as an amateur mat star for Oklahoma State University several years back. A former Olympian, the stocky, talented grappler dominated the Big Eight and NCAA competitions as a collegian.

An immediate hit as a pro, Danny quickly was recognized as the junior heavyweight kingpin, a title he still retains.

A mixed tag team test is on tap for tonight's semifinal. Klondike Bill, a massive 40-pounder with power to spare, will team with leggy Kay Noble and together they'll take aim on veterans Frank Marconi and Mae Young.

Ronnie Etchison

Terry Martin, an 18-year-old from Minot, N.D., who has been a big hit in the Convention Hall ring, will try his skills against Ronnie Etchison in another clash.

Noble and Young will renew their growing feud in the opening clash.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Sleeveless Garments Can Be Made With Ease

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Are you or any of the other girls interested in removing sleeves from a dress or blouse to make it a sleeveless garment? If so, the following is simple and successful: Simply cut off the sleeves about 1 1/4 inches BELOW the armhole seam, leaving this amount on the sleeve. Turn to the inside of the armhole, turn in 1/4-inch and blind stitch by hand, the same as sewing a hem. The result is a sleeveless dress or blouse with its own built-in binding and you accomplish this in a minimum of time.—MRS. F. W.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Some years ago I saw flowers made from silk stockings that had been shaped over wire and dipped in something. When finished, they looked like the hard plastic ones now being made. I would like to hear from someone who knows how they are made.—IRENE

DEAR POLLY—Those who need glasses for reading should write the numbers for the fire department, police, hospital and doctor in BIG, DARK numbers and attach to the bottom edge or underside of the telephone. In an emergency, even if your glasses are not within easy reach, the numbers are readable. I found this out the hard way, so I lived and learned.—RUTH

DEAR POLLY—Panty hose are too expensive to throw away when only one leg gets a run. Always buy two matched pairs, then the ruined pairs can be cut in half and the good legs sewn together to make one good pair. If both good legs are from the same side, you can usually turn one inside out and make it the opposite leg.—SUSAN

DEAR POLLY—and Mrs. E. F. M.—I live in a mobile home where space really is a premium and I store my extra table leaves behind the couch.—GRACE

Great Careers Cut Short—

Ernie Davis: Unrealized Dream

By TOMMY THOMAS
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Ernie Davis' biggest ambition was to become the best player in professional football. The Heisman Trophy he won is on display in Manley Field House at Syracuse University, a testimonial to his achievements as the best player in college football.

Davis, although shy and retiring, had a burning desire to be successful and hoped to prove himself in the NFL. He was chosen by the Browns prior to his graduation in 1962. He was expected to team with Jim Brown in Cleveland's resurgence. He never played.

Nearly five years ago, he died at the age of 23.

Davis, a native of Elmira, N.Y., was persuaded by Brown, his idol, to attend Syracuse because "I would then have better opportunities to play in the big time." He wore Brown's old number, 44, while breaking most of Jim's rushing and scoring records for the Orangemen.

The summer after he finished school, he was in training at the College All-Star

ERNE DAVIS
'Not so long ago'

camp when he was hospitalized. The doctors called it a "blood disorder." It turned out to be the deadliest kind of blood cancer—acute monocytic leukemia.

Davis returned to the Syracuse campus in May, 1963, to watch the annual spring training game. It was the last one he ever saw. Two weeks later, he died in Cleveland's Lakeside Hospital.

"His memory is still a strong influence at Syracuse," says sports publicist Larry Kimball. "It really hasn't been too long ago that all this happened so his name and accomplishments really mean something to the athletes that come here.

"The reason he's so well-remembered is because his personality matched his athletic greatness. Floyd Little (the next SU All-American to wear No. 44) is an extrovert and was very popular. Well, Ernie was quiet, but was also extremely popular with the students, which is rather unusual. Many people here, especially the coaching staff, still feel a strong personal sense of loss."

US Takes Game From Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—It isn't often the United States wins anything in international soccer competition so you can't blame the boys for wanting to celebrate.

"Yes, we'll go out on the town and celebrate a bit," Coach Phil Woosnam said Monday after the U.S. World Cup team won its Caribbean qualifying section with a 2-0 victory over Bermuda.

The victory gave the United States six points to five for Canada and one for Bermuda. The Americans next play the winners of the Guatemala-Haiti-Trinidad section.

Confender Decks Bob 'Bull' Mumford

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Jerry Quarry, No. 6 heavyweight contender, decked Bob "Bull" Mumford in the first round and then scored a technical knockout in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-rounder Monday night.

Quarry, seemingly recovered from a back injury he suffered in training for his unsuccessful title bid against Jimmy Ellis, uncorked heavy shots to his opponent's granite jaw almost from the opening bell.

Mumford, of Los Angeles, hit the canvas for the mandatory eight count in the opening round. He admitted later that he was groggy afterward.

Referee Roger Yanez stopped the bout at 1:15 of the fifth when Quarry, of Bellflower, Calif., drove Mumford into a corner and was hammering him with lefts and rights.

Mumford, however, blocked several of the punches and bitterly protested the referee's decision. Most of the 1,700 spectators booed the referee's action and even Quarry said later, "I don't like 'em to end like that."

The American Bowling Congress was formed in 1895 and the ABC Championships were started in 1901.

College Grid Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The pressure will be doubled this weekend for Southern California's top-ranked Trojans. Not only do they face Oregon State, only team to beat them in the last two seasons, but they're still No. 1 in The Associated Press' college football poll.

Coach John McKay admitted Monday, "Our opponents come in and that's all they're chanting—Kill No. 1."

The Trojans not only remained No. 1, they strengthened their hold on the top spot with a 35-17 trouncing of California. The defending national champs garnered 32 first-place ballots and 908 points in the voting by 47 sports writers and broadcasters across the nation.

Ohio State was second with 14 first-place votes and 864 points, but the Buckeyes slipped from 13 to 44 points behind despite a 43-8 rout of Wisconsin. The other first-place ballot went to Penn State, which climbed from fourth to third by trimming Miami, Fla., 22-7. The top three teams all have 7-0 records.

Michigan, Georgia and Missouri all moved up after posting easy victories. Michigan rose from seventh to fourth by trouncing Illinois 36-0, Georgia blasted Florida 51-0 and jumped from ninth to fifth and Missouri was up two places to sixth in the wake of a 42-7 walloping of Iowa State.

Kansas, a 27-23 loser to Oklahoma, fell from the unbeaten ranks and from third to seventh in the poll. Texas ripped Baylor 47-26 and moved from 10th to eighth. Notre Dame climbed from 12th to ninth by walloping Pitt 56-7 and Arkansas' 46-21 bombing of Rice sent the Razorbacks from 14th to 10th.

The Second Ten consisted of Tennessee, Auburn, Oregon State, Houston, Purdue, Alabama, Ohio University, California, Indiana and Wyoming. Alabama and Indiana were the only newcomers to the weekly Top Twenty, replacing Michigan State and Louisiana State. Alabama beat LSU 16-7 while Indiana nipped Michigan State 24-22.

The top 20, with first-place votes, records and total points. Points awarded for first 15 picks on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Charge Dirty Football

CINCINNATI (AP)—Season

play between the Kansas City Chiefs and the Cincinnati Bengals has ended, but charges and counter charges of dirty football as a result of their last encounter continued to fly between the two American Football League teams.

The Chiefs started the succession of accusations immediately after Sunday's game in Cincinnati which Kansas City took 16-9.

Bengals' Pat Matson, Fletcher Smith and Bill Kindricks came under attack of several Chiefs.

"That damn Matson," said Buck Buchanan. "I wish I'd played in front of him the whole game. There'll be another time, though."

Sitting beside Buchanan on the dressing room bench was teammate Noland Smith, nursing a swollen lip and eye. "I guess he (Fletcher Smith) was trying to hurt me," said the 154-pound Smith.

Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said what he saw on the field was in line with what his Chiefs said.

But Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown said that game films showed that if there were any roughhouse culprits—they were from the Kansas City club.

"They are the guilty people," Brown said firmly after he viewed films Monday afternoon. "And the pictures can prove it."

Of the charge that Fletcher Smith "clothes-lined" Noland Smith, he said: "He simply tackled him around the head, which is legitimate."

"The real truth is that they're just a bunch of pros who didn't want to pay much of a price to play to us. They have to be laughing at us."

Kansas City pulled Sunday's game out of the fire in the closing minutes, and had defeated the Bengals earlier in the season 13-3.

Retains Lead In American League Race

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Rick Barry of the Oakland Oaks retains a comfortable margin in the American Basketball Association scoring race, the league said Monday.

Barry has scored 289 points in nine games for a 32.1 points per game average, about three points below his total in 1966-67 when he led the National Basketball Association with 35.6 points per game.

Kentucky's Darel Carrier and Minnesota's Connie Hawkins tightened up the scoring race with high outputs during the last week.

Carrier scored 48 points against Minnesota and 36 against New York for a 30.3 average in nine games. Hawkins boats an average of 29.5 in six games. Hawkins won the ABA scoring title a year ago with a 26.8 average.

Mel Daniels of Indiana is well ahead in rebounding with an average of 17.1 per game. Don Freeman of Miami leads in assists with 46 of seven games.

James Jones of New Orleans has 57.5 per cent of his field goal attempts and holds the lead for shooting accuracy. Minnesota's Art Heyman has the best accuracy on three-point goal attempts—25 feet out or farther—with 71.4 per cent.

The Money Games

Several years ago, when Joe Kuharich was coaching at Notre Dame, one of his young players wanted to quit the football squad and study for the priesthood. Joe talked him out of it. The kid went on to become the varsity quarterback and a Heisman Award winner. Now John Huarte's back with Kuharich as his quarterback with the Philadelphia Eagles. . . .

Maybe nobody noticed, but when Grayson Kirk resigned as president of Columbia University, there went the last of the original signers of the Ivy League pact outlawing spring practice in football. Time to re-evaluate? . . .

Before Gary Player went out to play two rounds of golf and collect $50,000 for his effort, in the recent World Series of Golf, he told some dinner companions, "I'm still amazed to be thinking I'm playing for this kind of money. I started out in South Africa making $80 a month." . . . His companions, noting that Gary hadn't even bothered to wear a tie, said, "You still dress like you're making $80 a month." . . . (Note: actually, the little South African's a natty dude, despite his all-black outfits on the course.) . . .

Julius Boros put the money-making potential in golf in true perspective: "If it weren't for this game, Lee Trevino would be selling tacos in Texas, I'd still be a bookkeeper in Hartford, Conn., and Nicklaus and Palmer would be piloting prop planes." . . .

Sometimes you wonder why the guys even bother to play for a living. Lance Alworth, the flashy flanker of the San Diego Chargers, is well on his way to being a millionaire after a lucrative stock option deal with a fried chicken syndicate. He has also gone into the singing business, having cut his first folk record . . . and now Denny McLain, having just become a cover boy, is ready to peddle his life's memoirs at the grand old age of 24. . . .

McLain, by the way, frowns at the traditional measure of a pitcher's effectiveness—earned run averages. Not that Denny's got anything to be ashamed about—he's right up among the American League leaders in stinginess. "But they pay off," he says, "on how many you win." . . .

In the San Diego Chargers' AFL opener against the Cincinnati Bengals, all-league offensive tackle Ron Mix was called for holding and the Chargers were penalized 15 yards. It was only the second holding penalty called against Mix in his nine-year pro career. . . .

Before Bob Gorman resigned as the PGA press field secretary and took on his new duties as public relations chief for the Kentucky Derby, he fully intended to go with the tournament players splinter group if a job were offered him. . . .

When George Sauer Jr. came into pro ball, he was a shy crewcut kid who refused to make any public appearances. Now, as an all-pro split end with the New York Jets, he wears long blond hair and sideburns, sports turtle-necks, has consented to a speaking engagement . . . Sauer also keeps a complete dossier on every game's performance which he presents to coach Weeb Ewbank. "Weeb's also the general manager," he explains, "and I haven't signed my contract yet." . . .

Between you'n' me, Pancho Gonzalez doesn't concede that old age stops him in tennis, only fatigue. "When you're tired," he sighs, "the ball looks like six of them coming at you, and you don't know which to hit." . . .

Somebody's a Wiseguy

When the postman first saw it, he probably looked twice. But there it is, in all its mysterious glory. An air mail box in the air, and if the postman had any doubts about the elevated box, he could see a small ladder connecting Wilbert Trebesch's regular mail box with the, shall we say, special delivery, air mail box. Note the airborne box's signal lever is up, indicating, no doubt, that Trebesch, or possibly the postman, had received the message. Passerby Ted Peterson examines the strange mail box. (UPI)
